I'm Ricardo Lorenzo, an aspiring graphic designer. I got interested in art when i was young, i believe it was for some big art project where our stuff was displayed and what not. I just found it so much fun when i was doing it that i just kept doing it and doing it and doing it until I got to where I am now. Personally I'm a fan of simplistic designs. There's just something fascinating I find with it. For me, it has to be how you can do so little and yet it can leave such a big impact, in fact, the same amount of impact you can get with a very complicated piece. Hopefully, I'd like to be able to reach that same amount of impact one day.
